Electric Lineman Dave Zweep retires after 39 years with Stoughton Utilities

Electric Lineman Dave Zweep recently announced his retirement after 39 years of employment at Stoughton Utilities and the City of Stoughton. Dave began his career at Stoughton Utilities on May 17, 1976 as an electric lineman, and worked on the overhead and underground electric distribution system in Stoughton and the surrounding townships. At the time he was hired, the City of Stoughton had 7,499 residents. For nearly four decades, his hard work helped maintain a reliable power system that kept the lights on in Stoughton, even during the harshest of storms.

Dave's last day of employment will be May 30, 2015.
