Water Supervisor Roger Thorson retires after 36 years with Stoughton Utilities

Water Supervisor Roger Thorson recently celebrated his last day of employment at Stoughton Utilities, as he retired after 36 years of employment. Roger began his career at Stoughton Utilities on May 16, 1977 as a water operator and was promoted to Water Utility System Supervisor on June 1, 1980. As a State Certified Waterworks Operator, he worked closely with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and the United States Environmental Protection Agency on numerous system improvements that insured a safe local water supply. His last day of employment was May 31, 2013.
